About EduPosse

EduPosse is a mobile led, education centric, secure, Social learning platform for connecting parent, teacher and students and increasing and improving communication amongst them.

It provides a teacher the power to communicate with her students and their parents in a simple, secure and effective manner. It provides a parent ways and means to become a part of his child’s digital life. And to the student it provides a comfortable and enjoyable environment to explore new ways of learning, interacting with his peers and at the same time, share and learn from his parents and teachers.

While the children have been adopting digital lives very early and at an ever-increasing rate, the parent does not have any participation at all. The platform allows a parent and the teacher to form a team to maximize the child’s learning potential taking advantage of digital content and other mechanisms available.

Teachers, students and parents can store and share all forms of digital content – blogs, links, pictures, video, documents, presentations, and more. There are also special tools and apps that integrate the workflow of schools and teachers and blend into effectively allowing them to have an enhanced communication with their students and parents at the same time.

How to use EduPosse

A user of EduPosse can be a teacher, student or parent. And these roles are contextual – we all can be teacher, student or parent in different contexts at the same time. EduPosse allows a user to acquire these different roles at the same time.

The Role of a user is defined by his context. By creating or joining different “GROUPS” a user achieves the desired contextualization.

A GROUP is a community formed by a teacher – who then asks his/her students and parents to join the group. A teacher may also invite other teachers to come and join the GROUP.
